

Market forecasters spot patterns from the past to try to predict the future.